

I am sorry that terrestrial radio stations feel threatened by Satellite radio - but this is no reason to prohibit satellite radio from broadcast localized information - weather - traffic - even sports and local events. This in no way means that local radio loses because the vast majority of the public does not have (or want to) pay for radio coverage. This type of control should be avoided at all costs and the vendors (Xm, Sirrius, etc) should be allowed to offer these services to their customers.
